

Module 3: Discussion and Reflection on Quiet Issues

Topic 3-1	Trail Quietism: The Etiquette of Trail Quietness
Objective	To enable participants to realize the importance of quiet in conservation by means of focused discussions
Design	(1)The purpose of a national park, serving humans vs. serving creatures (2)Human senses vs. creature senses (3)Trail management: Can a karaoke machine be allowed? Is it okay to bring a radio to play along the way?

Topic 3-2	Taiwan Nature Sound Course - 2. Human Noise
Objective	To enable participants to recognize the impact of human interference on the environment by comparing human interference with the natural environment (Further discussion of Topic 2-7)
Design	After Activity 2-7, switch to the man-made sounds in the cards. After completing the activity in the same way, ask participants to discuss the differences between the two activities and the impact of human noise.

Topic 3-3	Hear Who's Singing
Objective	To observe and record the sounds of the natural environment in life over a long period of time
Design	Choose a campus tree (or ecological pond) for a week of nature observation and sound recording at various times of a day, or for a longer period of time for survey and documentation. Learn to build a database of biology and sound on campus.
